

ENERGY OPPORTUNITIES COALITION

YOU'VE BEEN NOMINATED!

You have been nominated to serve on the Energy Opportunities Coalition (EOC). This new initiative from TEPRI is inviting together leaders in energy and equity to identify opportunities to catalyze economic renewal through clean energy in Texas and beyond.

TEPRI research has shown that the COVID-19 pandemic has exacerbated inequities in the energy sector already disproportionately affecting low-income communities.

The Coalition will be led by our Executive Director Dana Harmon and a Steering Committee of industry leaders and changemakers. We will launch this November with three initial Advisory Groups focused on Housing & DERs, Health + Energy, and Mobility.

MOBILITY

HOUSING & DERs

ENERGY + HEALTH

By accepting this invitation, you will be joining a select group of experts for a series of roundtable discussions facilitated by TEPRI. We are confident that you'll find opportunities to align with other stakeholders in new ways, building consensus to advance energy equity solutions. TEPRI is aiming to develop best-practices, case studies, and expand our research focus to advance the ideas and outcomes of these discussions.

We hope you will join the coalition and get involved in one of the three advisory groups. We look forward to leveraging your expertise to develop solutions for underserved communities.
